WOMEN'S INSTITUTE TO SEND CLOTHING

Clothing to be Sent to Salvation Army Headquarters at Calgary

Under the auspices of the Women's Institute another box of clothing is to be sent to the Salvation Army headquarters in Calgary, and the secretary of the Institute will be pleased if those who have anything to send will take it to Dr. Knowles' office on Saturday from 3 o'clock to 5.

The last box that was sent contained about one hundred and fifty articles, and was a very welcome arrival at Calgary, where the numerous goods were distributed among the deserving. At a time like this when every body is housecleaning there are many outgrown garments cast aside. Why not send them to Calgary where they will be appreciated by those in need?

I.O.O.F. To Hold Celebration Tonight

The 97th anniversary celebration to be observed by the members of the Oddfellows Lodge, Vulcan, which will take place this evening, is to be held in the Shimp Hall, and not in the Masonic Hall, as stated in these columns last week.

The first choice was for the Masonic Hall, but as it was thought that the accommodation there would be insufficient for the number who will be present, it was decided to hold the anniversary in the Shimp Hall.

Fraternal Visit

On good Friday a number of the members of the Vulcan Masonic Lodge motored to Lethbridge and attended a joint meeting of the Masonic Lodge in that city. The brethren who went were: D. C. Jones; A. J. Flood; A. G. Dickinson; M. A. Lebow; C. Hall; A. M. Trail; D. K. Allan; W. E. Butchart; and C. R. Mason.

During the evening the gathering was addressed by G. C. Bro. the Rev. Dr. Kerby, of Calgary. G. M. Bro. S. Y. Taylor, and Pr G. M. Bro. Judge Jackson, who all gave very interesting speeches on the aims and work of the Lodge. A musical programme was also given by a number of talented artists, and refreshments were served during the evening.

Miss Pinkham Honoured

On Friday last Miss. Pinkham, who is so actively connected with the work of the Red Cross Society in the south of the province, was invested with the insignia of the order of St. John of Jerusalem, and made an associate of the Order.

At the ceremonies, which were held under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire, Lieutenant Governor Brett represented the Governor-General.

The Order is bestowed by the king for 'service in the cause of humanity', and the only other holder of the Order in the province is Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of Edmonton.

Miss. Pinkham is the daughter of Bishop Pinkham, Calgary.

The marriage of Agnes McClement and Fred Ruppel took place on Tuesday. A full account will appear next week.

Snake Creek News

A number of the people from Sunny Glen district attended Easter services on the reserve.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Chapell motored to Calgary on Friday last and returned on Monday.

Carl Brady took charge of the Reid Hill store during Mr. Cooper's absence.

Miss Eva Leahy left for Calgary on Friday, where she will visit a week or so with friends.

Mrs. Barclay, Mrs. Houghton's daughter left on Friday last for England.

Tim Sallows is running Mr. Forsyth's engine.

Mr. and Mrs. John Douglass returned home on Sunday from a winter's visit in Missouri.

Miss Luella Duncan, teacher of Prospect Slope school, spent her Easter holidays at her home in Okotoks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones of Buffalo Hills were through this vicinity on business on Monday.

Miss Hilda Cox, teacher of the Union Jack School spent her Easter holidays in Calgary.

Billy McMullen took horses to the Calgary Stampede for Arthur Bond.

Jack Marshall motored to Calgary Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. McKague and Mrs. Percy Myers motored to Calgary on Friday last.

Easter Services

The two Easter services of the Presbyterian Church were well attended there being a good turn-out in the afternoon, and in the evening the hall was filled to the doors, many people having to stand throughout the service.

At the afternoon service the Rev. D. K. Allan gave an address to the children on the meaning of Easter, and Miss. McEwan sang 'Easter Eve'.

At the evening service the text was from John 20. v. 24, when the Rev. D. K. Allan dwelt on the doubts of Thomas. The music was supplied by piano, violin and cello. A violin solo, 'Traumerie', was played by Mr. B. J. Kleebe, and Miss. McEwan sang 'Crossing the Bar'.

Among the intimations was one to the effect that Holy Communion would be dispensed on Sunday morning, April 30th, at eleven o'clock, and that this service would take the place of the one usually held in the afternoon. As this will be the last communion service which Mr. Allan will conduct ere leaving to take up another call, he is desirous that as many as possible attend.

I. H. C. Demonstration

On Thursday, May 11th, the International Harvester Company will give a demonstration 8-16 and 15-30 tractors.

The demonstration will take place on the land belonging to Mr. Peter Peterson, half a mile north of Vulcan.

Farmers who are interested in small tractors for all kinds of farm work should make it a point to be at the demonstration.

For further particulars apply to Mr. C. E. Henry, the Company's agent in Vulcan.

STILL WAITING FOR GERMANY'S ANSWER

Germany's Reply Expected About Thursday of This Week

The German answer to the United States' demand for a full observance of the laws of humanity in the submarine policy is awaited with great interest. The German reply is not expected until about Thursday of this week. In Germany the United States note appeared in Sunday's papers, and was received with mixed feelings, many of the leading papers commenting thereon calmly and without bluster, but indicating that Germany could not forego the greatest of her weapons against England.

Indications since then are that powerful influences in German politics are opposed to any action by the Berlin Government which might lead to a severance of diplomatic relations with the United States. Socialists and the labour element are represented as being particularly averse to any such move.

New Buildings to Cost Million and a Half

The special committee of parliament named by the government to consider plans for the new parliament building has made its decision, it is announced. The committee has decided to follow general plans as drafted by Architects Pearson and Marchland, of Toronto and Montreal, with some minor changes. The contract will be let almost immediately and will be for something like $1,500,000.

Men are still at work removing the debris and patching up the old structure. It is probable that the contract for the new building will be given to Peter Lyall and Sons of Montreal, on the basis of ten per cent. profit.

Belgian Woman is Undaunted by Huns

The latest story of heroism that comes from Belgium has to do with a Belgian woman, a resident of one of the suburbs of Brussels. It is told in a letter received in Toronto that was smuggled across the Belgian frontier, having been carried from Brussels by special courier, an operation, incidentally, which is extremely hazardous in view of the more rigorous German restrictions, and the imposition of the death penalty upon any one found carrying letters or disposing of papers or intelligence that would in any way apprise the Brussels of the true conditions that obtained in the outer world.

This particular Belgian woman of courage and bravery had been for months without news of her husband, an officer in the Belgian army, until finally she discovered one of the agencies through which she could have that intelligence for which she yearned. But the Germans gained possession of one of the letters, with the result that the woman was placed under arrest. It happened that a number of people received letters by the same courier and the Germans immediately decided that they would execute the courier and punish the parties who were contributors to this latest infraction of the German law. When they demanded the names from the woman whom they had placed under arrest, she refused to give them. (Continued on Page 8)

LADY URSULA'S HUSBAND

—BY—
FLORENCE WARDEN

Word, Lock & Co., Limited
TORONTO

It was the heart-cry of the hunt-man who sees the fox sailing away on a distant hill, out of reach of the pack.
"Do you mean that he's been convicted, served a sentence?"
Redding shook his head.
"Not he, my lord. He's much too clever."

"But you know him to be a forger?"
"Forger, thief, scoundrel all round, my lord. When one thing is played out, he takes up another. That's what makes him so hard to catch; he never keeps at the same game long. Most of them make a specialty of one line or other. But he takes a turn at them all, and he beats the rest of them, all round, each at his own game."

There was something like admiration in the detective's tone. He spoke with the respect due to a foe worthy of his steel.

The viscount was almost stunned by the completeness of this revelation, and there was now stealing into his heart a sort of awe of the man with whom he had got to deal.

Paul Payne was so easy, so well-bred, so gentle, that he had stolen his way into the regard of most of the members of his bride's family, and Lord Eastling had become one of his most devoted supporters. It was hard to the young man to make the volteface required of him by what he began to feel sure must be stern facts, and to assume the role of denouncer.

How was it to be done? He felt his courage ebbing away, and he realized at the same time that a man who could baffle the police, who was known to be a criminal but who was too artful to be caught, was scarcely likely to allow a man twelve or thirty-three years younger than himself, one, too, who did not pretend to any special intellectual superiority, to expose and confound him.

Nevertheless the attempt must be made, and as there was no time to be lost, the young man turned once more to the detective, and said:

"I think I'll go by myself. I'm afraid my sister might see you, and think there was something worse to fear."

Redding looked dubious.
"You must be prepared, my lord, for him to brave it out," he said.

"Yes."
Lord Eastling answered mechanically, but indeed this thought had not occurred to him. Yet that was what would probably happen. Payne would express amazement, force him to speak out, make him stammer, contradict himself, look foolish.

And then Lady Ursula would join in the discussion, and with her clear eyes, honest countenance and straightforward questions, put the finishing touch to his discomfiture, and leave him baffled and at a loss.

"What shall I do?" he asked hoarsely, when he had realized his helplessness and his need of counsel.

The officer looked at him kindly.
"I think you'd better just tell him, my lord, that Superintendent Redding would be glad of a word with him."

Lord Eastling faced him quickly.
"Then I suppose you have got a warrant," he said desperately. "And you want to get hold of him without fuss or trouble."

"No, no, my lord. All I want is to help you if I can, to get the lady and yourself out of the hands of this fellow. And I don't say I can do it. All I offer to do is to try."

"What is it you propose to say to him?" demanded Lord Eastling curiously.

He had looked at the great clock and saw that there was a quarter of an hour to spare before the starting of the train. He had got over his first stupefaction, and was anxious to act without rashness, feeling that an unwise step might precipitate them all into unknown and terrible dangers.

Redding did not at first reply. He would much have preferred to be left to take his own measures without having to discuss them first. For he was conscious that the ruse he proposed to employ to rid the earl's family of the scoundrel were such as would give a great shock to the young viscount. But as the latter insisted, he had at last to confess what his plan was.

"If I could have a word with him, my lord, alone," said he, "I should take it for granted I knew he was married already."

"Married already?"
Lord Eastling echoed the words in horror, and then his fist clenched, his eyes blazed, and but for the restrain-ing hand of the detective laid gently but firmly on his arm, he would have dashed through the crowd on to the platform without more ado, and tried to drag Paul Payne from the train.

"Gently, gently, my lord," said the firm, low, persuasive voice. "Didn't you ask by advice? Well, now you're going to act without it."

The young man was staggered, shattered, scarcely able to keep still.
"Let me go," he said hoarsely. "I can't let such a scoundrel remain another minute with my sister."

"You forgot," said the officer quietly. "We may not be able to get him away. He may have the right to stay."

"I thought you said he was married already!"

Should Regulate Farm Industry

When the Farmer, Like a Railway is "Regulated" by The Government

The following letter appeared in the Winnipeg Telegram, under date of March 10:

Sir,—Now that the railways, manufacturing and commercial industries have been properly regulated by various federal enactments, it has occurred to one of the representatives in parliament that the hitherto unregulated industry of agriculture should receive more attention and be regulated on similar logical lines and it is understood that a bill on the following lines will be introduced in the parliament of Canada:

In Senate, March 23, 1916.
The people of Canada, represented in senate and commons do enact as follows:

An act to amend agricultural law, in relation to prices of produce, use of safety devices, and employment of hired men:

Section 1. The agricultural law is hereby amended by adding after section 318, nine new sections to be sections 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, to read as follows:

Section 319. Only one price for a given commodity shall be lawful. A farmer desiring to change a profitable schedule thereof with the agricultural department, which shall go into effect thirty days thereafter, unless suspended by the commissioner at the instance of any consumer.

No prices shall be increased, however, except upon due proof, the burden thereof shall be upon the farmer that existing prices are confiscatory of his goods and gear. In its discretion the commissioner may refuse to permit any such increase until a valuation by its engineers and accountants shall have been taken. In such valuation the farmer shall have no credit for past profits invested in new fields or improved structures, but shall be allowed only original cost plus borrowed money invested.

"Commodity" as used herein, includes all grain, vegetables, livestock, dairy animals, excepting sand, gravel and manure.

Section 320. Every hired man shall work only eight hours a day, not including the Sabbath, and shall not commence work unless he has completed a period of not less than eight hours absolute rest and quiet. He shall not work on the Lord's Day nor on legal holidays nor on Jack Labor's birthday.

Section 321. Every farmer shall hire one more hired man than his work requires. The only permissible exceptions to the foregoing sections shall be periods of stress resulting from earthquakes, Halley's comet or European invasion.

Section 322. All wagon and all pole and whiffle trees shall be provided with couplers, coupling by intact, so that the hired man need not go between the wheels of the wagon and the heels of the horses.

All wagons shall be supplied with suitable brakes, grab irons, stirrups and platforms of standard dimensions to be fixed by the commissioner.

Section 323. All bulls when moving on the highway or in unfenced areas shall be equipped with a bell of not less than 50 pounds weight, a steam whistle and an electric headlight of at least 1,000 candle power.

Section 324. Sheds shall be built over all fields where hired men have to work in summer.

Section 325. All fields, engines and machinery shall be fenced in, all belting shall be encased in metal housings and all grindstones and churns, haycutters, bulls' horns and other moving parts shall be strongly encased in sheaths for the protection of the hired man.

Section 326. All barns, sheds and other buildings shall in cold weather be adequately heated and all times shall be well lighted and polished.

If a calf is delayed in arriving or is born dead, the farmer shall instantly provide another cow whose calf shall be born that day.

The commissioner's inspector shall weekly inspect all gasoline automobiles. If a cylinder is missing he must find it before he runs on the road again.

Section 327. The right to mortgage real estate is a franchise reserved to the state. No farmer shall make any mortgage nor incur any indebtedness extending over a period of more than one month without the written approval of the commission obtained upon petition and hearing, and upon paying the state treasurer ten cents for each one hundred dollars' indebtedness, indebtedness incurred without such consent shall be void.

To enforce this act a commission of five persons shall be selected by the governor with a view to placating as many shades of political opinion as possible. No commission shall, however, be deemed disqualified by lack of previous political opinion, or other experience.

Section 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

SAR KASTIC.
Winnipeg, March 9.

It takes an average of at least one and a half men to keep one fighting man supplied with munitions, stores, clothes, accoutrements, ships to carry him, and so on.

A stitch in the side is more distressing than a stitch in time.

Boosting New "Dry" Battalion

203 Receive Hearty Support of Religious Organizations

The Two Hundred and Third battalion had its inception in the challenge of the minister of militia, who, when speaking of the many applications for chaplaincies, said that the ministers ought to organize a fighting battalion.

The thought was presented by one of the leading ministers of the city that the resources of church organizations might be more adequately used than they have been for recruiting purposes. It was pointed out that there were nearly four hundred circuits of the Methodist church alone in Military District No. 10, and that while many had already supplied a large number, in some cases hundreds of recruits, yet there were many who were not directly affected, and it was seen that a large force might be brought to bear on the problem of recruiting, if these agencies could be organized and directed.

A further suggestion was made that an effort might be made to fill up a new battalion, whose chief characteristic would in no way be secular or sectarian, but that representing the thought of the churches it should be a dry battalion. This was very heartily received wherever mentioned, both in civil and military quarters. Furthermore, it was presented before the Methodist ministerial association, as also before the convention, representing the Sunday school and Young People's organizations of our province, and Rev. W. B.
Caswell, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, was urged anthorized to present this offer to the minister of militia, Sir Sam Hughes.

It was heartily received, and the Two Hundred and Third was duly authorized, with Lieut. Colonel J.
Hansford as the commanding officer.
Mr. Caswell was given the position of honorary captain to assist in directing recruiting and later on to assume the duties of the chaplaincy, and the organization is now about complete.

Lieutenant F. Percy Lloyd, son of Principal Lloyd, of the Emmanuel college, Anglican, represents the Two Hundred and Third, with headquarters in the Canada building at Saskatoon. In order that the battalion should be as representative as possible of Military District No. 10, Mr.
T. W. Fawcett, of Saskatoon, was appointed paymaster. Captain W.
R. Green of Moose Jaw is opening a recruiting office in that district for Southern Saskatchewan.

The battalion very much appreciates the generosity of the Great West Permanent Loan, in placing the top floor of their building at the disposal of the battalion for headquarters. A good start has been made already up here. A platoon of Wesley college boys is lined up under the senior stick, Lieut. W. A. Carrothers. The Royal Templars are organizing a platoon under Lieut. J. H. Kennedy, and they believe that they can even do better than this, and have some ambition for a company.

The young men of Grace church are lining up in an effort to fill up a platoon. A. C. Hill, former Y.M.C.A. secretary of Brandon, is opening up an office there, and is endeavoring to line up a platoon in that city and surrounding territory. — Winnipeg

Why Portugal Entered the War

She Was Fulfilling Obligation of A 500-Year-Old Treaty With Britain

Portugal entered the war, the Portuguese legation at Washington states, because Great Britain requested her to do so, to fulfil treaty obligations dating back to 1373. Portugal did not enter the war before, the Portuguese minister announced, because Great Britain had not called on her to do so.

A statement outlining Portugal's position issued by Viscount De Alva, the Portuguese minister, reads:
"Portugal is drawn into the war as a result of her long standing alliance with England, an alliance that has withstood unbroken the strain of 500 years."

The first treaty of alliance between the two countries was concluded June 16, 1373, by Ferdinand of Portugal and Edward III. of England. Subsequent treaties have affirmed the alliance and defined its scope. It rests on a secure and permanent foundation. The foreign policies and the interests of the countries have almost invariably proved to be identical, and these ideals of their peoples have never changed. The dawn of the eighteenth century (1703) found the soldiers of Portugal and those of England fighting side by side in the war of the Spanish succession. At the beginning of the nineteenth century, Portuguese and British bled together on the battlefields of the Peninsula in the tremendous struggle brought about by the Napoleonic invasions of Portugal.

It would seem as if the opening years of the century must see for the third time these two allied nations engaged side by side in bitter struggle.

Like Belgium, Portugal desires nothing that belongs to any other nation, she has nothing to gain, and much to lose in the present conflict. But she is ready, notwithstanding, to aid England to the full extent of her resources—whether great or small—because the treaties in force compel her to do so, and because her people firmly believe that international good faith as evidenced by the fulfillment of treaty obligations, which is the principle for which Great Britain is fighting provides the only basis on which intercourse between civilized nations can securely stand.

"Portugal is not prepared to subscribe to the doctrine, encendered by militarism, that good faith must be made subservient to expediency, and that the interests of one nation may legitimately be fostered at the expense of the rights of others whenever backed by sufficient force.
It is, moreover, impossible to gainsay, after considering impartially all the published evidence, that the government labored solely, nay even passionately, to avert the war."

"In these circumstances, Portugal could not refuse her aid to her ancient ally who has now called upon her to fulfil her treaty obligations. She is ready to stand or British empire is fighting."

Saxons Hate Prussians.
I was in the front line trenches not long ago, and we had a Saxon regiment opposite us. The enemy lines were very close to ours, and one morning, to our great amusement, we saw the following notice written out in English and stuck up on a board above the enemy parapet: "A Prussian general is coming to inspect us at two o'clock today; please shoot him."

During the course of the afternoon a "certain liveliness" was displayed on both sides, which, however, subsided about four. We wondered how the general had enjoyed our shrapnel salvos, and we were not kept long in ignorance. Our friends the vagabond Hun, put up another board, bearing the following terse message,
"You did not get him."

After some days a further piece of information was vouchsafed us, with a farewell injunction, which ran: "A Prussian regiment is relieving us tomorrow. Give them hell!" I hope we did.

Prisoners of War In Germany

Treatment Accorded British Prisoners in German Camps

One hears many contradictory reports of the life of allied prisoners of war in Germany, and it is hard to know how much of the good one hears is due to the fear of the censor and how much to the locality in which the prisoner is confined. "In Saxony," one report says, "whose men have proved gentlemanly foes on the battlefield, conditions are as good as can be expected; but in the north, in Prussia, the ingenuity of cruelty and neglect would be unbelievable if it were not true."

Of the petty and continuous insults received, apart from the real deprivations, one exchanged prisoner writes:

"If letters arrived with stamps on them, they were never delivered till the stamps bearing the king's head was solemnly and carefully cut in half. Petty, wasn't it? Then newspapers were distributed full of allied disasters, which they said were directly translated from English newspapers, but we just laughed and said: 'It's all a pack of lies,' which made them stamp with rage. Sometimes grand Prussian officers would march through the wards (the writer was a wounded prisoner), and when they were told this in English they'd say through their teeth, 'schwein,' and pass on."

"But the food," he went on, "or the lack of it, was one of the worst things. We couldn't even make tea, as they wouldn't give us boiling water. So we let the tap run until it was as hot as it would go and then made cocoa!"

He Feels Like a Young Fellow

WHY MANITOBA MAN PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

After Experimenting With Other Medicines Max Hanjook Found in Dodd's Kidney Pills the Cure That He Sought.

Pleasant Home, Man.—(Special).—Mr. Max Hanjook, a well known resident of this place, who, after an extended period of ill-health is feeling strong and hearty again, is spreading broadcast the good news that he found a new lease of youth in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I tried all kinds of other pills, but they didn't help me very much," Mr. Hanjook says. "But Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me feel like a different man. I feel like a young fellow again. I want everybody to know that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me everything that has been claimed for them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills make men and women feel young again because they spread good health all over the body. Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. They make the kidneys strong and healthy and thus put them in condition to strain all impurities, all the seeds of disease, out of the blood. The cleansed blood circulating all through the body gives new strength and energy everywhere. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills are popular all over Canada.

When baby is ill no other medicine will so quickly relieve him as will Baby's Own Tablets. They go right to the root of most childhood ailments—those derangements of the stomach and bowels which cause difficult teething, colds, constipation, vomiting and simple fevers. They cleanse the bowels and sweeten the stomach and drive out all cause of illness. Concerning them Mrs. Wm. Evers, Gilks, N.B., says: "We always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house as we have found them an excellent medicine for little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Saved by Orthography

In the British army, when a soldier is confined in the guardroom, for an offence, a written copy of the crime is invariably handed to the commander of the guard. The other day a non-commissioned officer and a party of men were detailed for a certain fatigue. The corporal having given an order, one of the men seemed disinclined to obey, when, after having rebuked him sharply, he shouted in angry tones: "It's a good job for you, me lad, that I can't spell insubordination, or I'd shove you in the guardroom sharp."

Dangers of Cat Kissing

It must be a terrifying revelation, to those ladies who kiss their cats, that has been made by Professor Flocci, the Italian chemist. He has found by experiment that when a cat licks its lips it spreads over them a saliva in which there are swarms of minute bacilli not free from danger to human beings. When he inoculated rabbits and guinea-pigs with this noxious substance they died within twenty-four hours; and he has come to the conclusion that it is dangerous for ladies to indulge in the habit of kissing their cats.

A farmer in a small way walked into the office of one of the fire insurance companies and intimated that he wished to insure his barn and a couple of stacks.

"What facilities have you for extinguishing a fire in your village?" inquired the superintendent of the office.

The man scratched his head and pondered over the matter for a little while. Eventually, he answered: "Well, it sometimes rains."—Tit-Bits.

Canadian Timber Comes Into Its Own

Large Users Decide on its Use Exclusively in Construction Work

The decision of the various Dominion government departments and of the Canadian Pacific railway to use Canadian timber only, to the exclusion of imported timber, is a decided advantage in the utilization of Canadian timber and, therefore, marks a definite gain for the cause of conservation in Canada.

Southern pine, even in 1915, when Canada was at war and when there was a great decrease in the consumption of lumber, was imported to the extent of 95,000,000 feet, having a value of over $2,000,000. In previous years, very much larger quantities were imported despite an adverse trade balance for Canada and in the face of a supply in Canada of better timber at an equal or lower cost grown and manufactured entirely within the Dominion.

The Dominion government has in past years used many million feet of southern pine in various public works, but henceforth Canadian timber will be used to the exclusion of the foreign article. Douglas fir will replace southern pine in such works as Quebec and Montreal harbor improvements and Hudson Bay terminals. Douglas fir has been used entirely in the Toronto harbor works, as a clause was inserted in that contract calling for Canadian material. The action of Baron Shaughnessy in ruling that Canadian timber only shall be used in works of the Canadian Pacific railway shows that large private users are also finding it consistent with present conditions to use Canadian products. Other consumers throughout Eastern Canada, large and small, will follow the lead of the two largest users. Architectural and engineering professions also are rapidly replacing southern pine by Douglas fir and the imported woods by the home grown product.—W. J. Van D.

A Pill for Brain Workers.—The man who works with his brains is more liable to derangement of the digestive system than the man who works with his hands, because the one calls upon his nervous energy while the other applies only his muscular strength. They are specially compounded for such cases and all those who use them can certify to their superior power.

In the train of Alexander the Great during his Asiatic conquests were some observant persons who made notes of what they saw, when not too busy killing off the inhabitants, and in these written documents is told the story of "a reed growing in India which produces honey without bees." ## An Island of Bones

Alaska has her skeletons—not mere reminders of exploitation, but real bones. They are on the Pribilof Islands over an area a mile long, a mile wide and many feet deep. Secretary of Commerce Redfield points out their value as fertilizers, and if grinding and transportation facilities can be found, here is an important material that will go a great way toward meeting our needs for phosphorus and nitrogen for the soil.

It seems that many generations of seals dying on the coast of the Pribilof Islands have laid up this reserve of fertilizer which has been discovered just at the time when we need it most. Despite the many surveys that have been made for fertilizing material a critical need is still to be met by the new discovery. The day of our starvation as the result of an impoverished and barren soil is thus pushed into the more remote future.—The Country Gentleman.

May Have to Charter Food Ships

Switzerland will be compelled to charter trans-Atlantic steamships to bring her own food across the sea under protection of her own flag if the war continues much longer, is the opinion of many persons there.

The view is expressed that Germany's program at sea may mean the starvation of Switzerland unless some such action is taken.

Plowing and Shelling

A letter from France says: "There is a most terrific fight going on on our right. The roaring is continuous and terrible. We—i.e., our battalion—are not in it at present, but may have to join in at any moment. We have done a fair amount of 'strafing' since we have been here and the Germans have suffered as they deserve to."

"The destruction is too awful for words; all round villages and towns are laid flat! What has become of the wretched inhabitants. God knows! A few sticks to the place, although shells fall round all the time. They live in the cellars, I suppose. Some few go on plowing with shells flying over their heads; they take their chance."

The recently bombarded Durazzo is a port that has played a prominent part in both ancient and modern warfare. The Greek city of Epidamnus, as it was at the time of the struggles leading to the Peloponnesian War, was much harassed by these civil jealousies and fears. The Romans called it Dyrrachium, whence the modern name is derived, and it became the principal landing place on the route from Brindisi to Greece. A great military road to the Hellespont began here. The town is memorable also for the battles between Caesar and Pompey and, later, because the capital of a Byzantine province.

Protection of Wild Life

Some Measures Essential to the Conservation of Canada's Wild Birds and Animals

If the wild life of Canada is to receive proper protection, it is essential that several important steps be taken with the least possible delay. The following measures are not mentioned in the order of their relative importance, for each of them is essential to a complete system of protection, and merits the whole-hearted advocacy of every public-spirited citizen.

(1) Careful revision of the provincial acts governing the protection of insectivorous birds, to ensure that no valuable species are included on the "black list."

(2) Negotiation of a migratory bird treaty between Canada and the United States.

(3) The selection of suitable areas throughout Canada, and their erection into bird sanctuaries.

(4) Adequate protection for the sea birds of the Atlantic coast.

(5) Close restriction and, where feasible, total prohibition of the sale of game.

(6) Thorough revision of the Northwest Game Act and provision for its strict enforcement.

(7) Organization of strong, independent societies to create a public opinion of sufficient strength to obtain and enforce proper protective laws.

Hardening of the Arteries

An Interesting Explanation of How This Dreaded Condition is Brought About.

You take out the garden hose in the spring, turn on the water, and if the rubber has got hard and brittle the tubing bursts and water spurts out in all directions.

The arteries of the human body may be likened to small rubber pipes, which go everywhere through the body and carry blood to the hands and feet, as well as to the nerves, muscles and vital organs. They carry all the blood in the human system, and if this blood is burdened with the poisons left over when the liver and kidneys are not properly performing their filtering work, these poisons form a deposit on the inside walls of the arteries.

The deposit thus formed gradually thickens and hardens the walls of the arteries. The tiny blood vessels of the liver are affected, and thence comes that fatal disease—cirrhosis of the liver. The cells of the kidneys become starved for want of blood, and Bright's disease gets its start.

In health the arteries have the elasticity of rubber, and expand, contract or elongate, as required by the demands of the blood pressure. Hardened, the arteries are like so much brittle rubber tubing. The blood pressure comes on, the tubing bursts, and the resulting blood clot on the brain causes apoplexy.

It will be plainly seen that the cause of trouble is in the inefficient condition of the liver and kidneys. When these filtering organs are kept healthy and active, and the bowels regular in the removal of waste matter, there is no chance for such dreadful conditions as hardening of the arteries bring about.

As in all forms of serious disease, prevention is the only wise course to follow. You can positively depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to awaken the action of liver and kidneys, and also ensure the regularity of movement of the bowels. It is only by the activity of these organs that the blood can be kept pure and free from uric acid and other substances which form deposits in the arteries and at other points in the human system, causing pain, suffering and serious disease.

When you think of the scores of common ills, such as colds, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, backaches, etc., which arise from a torpid condition of these organs, you will better understand the reason why Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the favorite family medicine in many thousands of homes. By keeping the liver, kidneys and bowels active they cure the common ills of life, and prevent serious disease. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

The Von Der Goltz Statement

The remarkable statement of Hort von der Goltz, which appeared in the week-end newspapers, shows how far the German agents in the United States carried their designs and how little they considered the neutral country in which they were established.
The plans of the plotters embraced everything from machine guns mounted on boats on the Great Lakes, which were to be turned on the people of Canada, to blowing up railway lines and bridges and elevators. Fortunately these plans did not mature probably on account of the fact, as von der Goltz says, that from start to finish, he was closely watched and kept in sight. The plotters had evidently reckoned without their host.

The whole affair goes towards the steadily accumulating evidence of how the Germans make war. Without a thought as to where they are or as to their rights, they go ahead with their plans just as if they were in Germany. Time after time this has been shown, and it all helps to explain the psychology which seems to be peculiar to the German race; because they think a thing, it is therefore right, and nothing in the whole world must stand in their way; the whole of creation must give way to the doctrine of blood and iron.

All through the war this frightfulness has had for its object the aweing of people and nations into dumb submission to the German will, to frighten them into the idea that Germany was right. The idea is reflected in the torpedoing by Germany of neutral ships. The ideas which were to be carried out against Canada, according to von der Goltz, were with the object of frightening Canadians against helping the Empire in the war.
The sinking of the Lusitania sent hundreds of thousands of men to the colours, and any action against Canada would have done the same thing.

Why Not Flags Always On the Public Buildings?

All day on Saturday the town was smartly dressed out in its regalia, flags flying from every flag post, and many of the fronts of stores and residences decorated with smaller national emblems.
It gave the town a spick and span appearance and a dash of colour which is all too scarce at other times.

Which gives rise to the reflection that, if the appearance of the town is so much added to by a showing of flags, why isn't it possible to have them flying from our public buildings all the time?

The flag is always flying from the barracks. Would it not be a good idea to have the flag flying from the town hall and the school house as regularly?

We believe that this same suggestion has been made before but it has not been carried into practice. But there is nothing to prevent it, and we make the suggestion that the flags be kept flying at the school house and the town hall.

St. Julien Day

St. Julien Day was fittingly celebrated from one end of Canada to the other, and it was with a great deal of real pride that this was done. The first anniversary of the greatest military event of Canada would be observed, not only in Canada, but in every part of the Empire, which is at present playing so great a part in the defeat of the greatest military power the world has ever seen.

We in Canada are justly proud of the fame of our gallant soldiers who, a year ago, withstood the shock of Germany's soldiers, and by their heroic stand saved the day, and possible Europe, from the German hordes. It is no little thing for a country with practically no military history to play so great a part at so epoch making a time. On that eventful day, April 22nd, 1915, it fell to the lot of Canada to be tried as by fire. It was the soldiers of Canada who stood in the way on which the Kaiser and his generals had set their minds to win, and they know that on their gallantry and heroism depended the defeat of the Kaiser and his ambitions.
Like heroes every one they rose to the occasion, and, though their ranks were thinned and pressed by the enemy they withstood to the bitter end.

It is not something of which to be proud, and do we not all turn to the record of our fighting men with the feeling that although untried in the ravages of war, they upheld the fame of their native land and Empire in a manner that is incomparable in history? Canada has established herself as one of the bulwarks of the nation, and as the years go past they will only tend to add to the lustre of the undying fame the Canadians won on the field of St. Julien.

Why Not Get The Scholars To Understand The Weeds?

It has been estimated that the annual loss to Canada through the weed trouble amounts to millions of dollars annually. Much is being done to cope with this state of affairs, but much more remains to be done.

A splendid suggestion in regard to this was recently made to us, to be considered by the Agricultural Society. The suggestion is that the Society should offer, at the annual exhibition, prizes to the school children for the best collection of weeds, each weed to be named by the youthful exhibitor. The idea is to interest the children in weeds, the damage they do, and the methods of extermination.

This method would certainly be a practical one, and one which would educate the boys and girls who are to live on the farms in the future to a right understanding of the weed trouble. At present the general knowledge regarding weeds is decidedly limited, and on top of this there is a great deal of carelessness which only goes to aggravate the situation. But if education was commenced with the boys and girls there is little doubt that in the future the weed nuisance would be much more efficiently coped with and the menace greatly destroyed, to the profit of the farmer and the country.

It is to be hoped that the Society will seriously consider this matter in order that a good start may be made.

POLISH WHEAT $1 PER POUND

Exploited in West—Not Recommended for Growing Anywhere in States

The United States Department of Agriculture recently has been informed that Polish wheat is being offered for sale in Montana at the exorbitant price of $1 per pound. Polish wheat is a variety more closely related to durum wheats than to the common wheats. The head is 3 to 6 inches long and 1 to 3-4 of an inch wide, usually flexible instead of stiff. The chaff is very long, and thin and papery. The kernels are larger than those of durum wheat and about twice as long as those of ordinary varieties of common wheat. Like those of durum wheat, the kernels are finity and an amber color.

A few years ago this wheat was exploited in Idaho under the misleading name of 'corn wheat.' It has also been exploited at different times as 'Jerusalem rye,' 'Giant rye,' etc.

This wheat is grown to a slight extent in southeastern Europe, but never has been grown commercially in the United States. It is carried in stock and sold as a novelty by most seedsmen. It has been tested by many experiment stations and has never been found to yield as good varieties of common and durum wheat. From our present knowledge, it is not recommended for growing in the United States.

Those offering the seed claim that it does very well on dry land and also under irrigation if not watered too much. They state that Polish farmers in Montana claim that this wheat yields from 85 to 150 bushels per acre and makes the very best of flour and hog feed.

These statements are directly contrary to the experience of the department and several state experiment stations. They are also contrary to the experience of many farmers who have written to the department at one time or another.

The accumulated evidence regarding this wheat does not indicate that it has any value that will in any way justify the charge of $1 a pound for seed, and farmers are advised not to be misled by the glowing accounts regarding yields and value which have been made concerning this variety.

PROVINCIAL HOUSE PROROGUED APRIL 19

The Alberta legislature was prorogued at noon on April 19th, after a session lasting 54 days, during which 40 sittings were held, and 43 bills passed.

The past session has been an interesting one from more than one standpoint. Two of the outstanding bills are the act respecting the sale of intoxicating liquors, being the act commonly known as the Prohibition act, which comes into force in July, and the act respecting women's suffrage, which grants the women of the province the use of the franchise on an equal footing with the male voters. These two acts in themselves stand out as marketing an important step in democratic legislation. Another act of interest was the one providing for the taxation of theatres.

As well as the work of legislation, there was also sensation, for Dr. Stanley, conservative member for High River, brought up certain indefinite charges against government officials, and

R. E. Campbell moved for a royal commission to enquire into the conduct of Hon. A. L. Sifton, the premier, W. Gariepy, and the Attorney-General. None of these charges were allowed by government, and no commissions were granted.

Production and Thrift

"GAIN or no gain the cause before the farmers of Canada is as clear as it was last year—they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made, and I believe this to be especially true in regard to live stock, the world's supply of which must be particularly affected in this vast struggle."—HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENTS ARE BASED ON REPORTS CONTAINED IN "THE AGRICULTURAL WAR BOOK, 1916," PUBLISHED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, OTTAWA, ONT.

LIVE STOCK—The herds and flocks of Europe have been greatly reduced. When the war is over there will be a great demand for breeding stock. Canadian farmers should keep this in mind.

MEATS—In 1915 Great Britain imported 604,508 tons of beef, mutton and lamb, of which 364,245 tons came from without the Empire. Out of 430,420 tons of beef only 104,967 tons came from within the Empire.

The demands of the Allies for frozen beef, canned beef, bacon and hams will increase rather than diminish. Orders are coming to Canada. The decreasing tonnage space available will give Canada an advantage if we have the supplies.

DAIRYING—Home consumption of milk, butter and cheese has increased of late years. The war demands for cheese have been unlimited. The Canadian cheese exports from Montreal in 1915 were nearly $6,500,000 over 1914. Prices at Montreal—Cheese, January 1915, 15½ to 17 cents; January 1916, 18½ to 18¾ cents. Butter: January 1915, 24 to 28¾ cents; January 1916, 32 to 33 cents.

EGGS—Canada produced $30,000,000 worth of eggs in 1915 and helped out Great Britain in the shortage. Shippers as well as producers have a duty and an opportunity in holding a place in that market.

WRITE TO THE DOMINION DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND TO YOUR PROVINCIAL DEPARTMENT FOR BULLETINS ON THESE SUBJECTS

Tens of thousands of Canada's food producers have enlisted and gone to the front. It is only fair to them that their home work shall be kept up as far as possible. The Empire needs all the food that we can produce in 1916.

THE VOGUE OF JERSEY

A Sports Suit of Heavier Weave

THERE is absolutely no questioning of the fact that jersey weaves predominate in the new fabrics for spring. "I don't like the slimy old stuff," you will hear many a woman say who remembers the time—some decades ago—when jersey was very much in vogue. She forgets that wonderful things have happened to machinery since then, so that the jersey weaves of today are a very different proposition. Designers have taken up this material for sports wear particularly, and more daring ones have used it to advantage for more formal wear.

Thus you have jersey suits, coats, blouses, sweater coats, dresses and jersey, or, as it is called, "la jerz" silk underwear. There is a new serge out, too, called tricot, which is a serge with a soft jersey weave. Of course the feature about jersey weaves of all sorts is the great elasticity and consequent adaptability. Jersey does seem, however, an anachronism in this day of bouffant skirts and flare generally; but that is but another proof that Fashion asks no credentials if a style pleases her.

The two suits pictured—one in light-weight jersey weave and the other heavier—show that the new jersey materials lend themselves admirably to tailoring and keep a fair semblance of shapeliness. The light-blue suit is a pretty model for early summer or even for sports wear, but is not to be suggested for the woman with a limited wardrobe. The dark-blue suit may take the place of the sports or walking suit which forms part of every woman's spring wardrobe. Both show yoke, belt and pockets in the coat and plain gored skirt.

A very smart sports costume is made from the white jersey silk. It is a "slip-on" style, the sweater or jacket part going over the head. One may wear

The Popular Material Formal Gown

Ribbon Trims "La Jerz" Silk

it with a silk blouse, or a chemisette would answer the purpose. A black varnished ribbon binds the jacket and revers and belt. This ribbon is supposed to suggest the patent leather trimming and carries out the scheme of things glossy, which is a big fashion feature at present.

The green frock shows how the jersey weave may be manipulated into a real frock. While there is nothing very startling about this dress, nor any particular reason why jersey should have been chosen for its development, it is, nevertheless, something that many women will want who pride themselves on their acceptance of everything new. Notice the cape stiffened to collar height. It is lined daringly with yellow silk.

A true sports dress that allows for unhampered movement on the part of the hockey or golf player or roller skater is of the brilliant yellow jersey cloth. Bronzed kid for vest, belt and cuffs gives it a stylish touch.
